

ABSTRACT

An object of the present invention is to provide a filter material capable of killing microorganisms, bacteria, fungi or viruses in air or liquids. Antimicrobial organic polymer materials of the present invention comprise an organic polymer material having a polymer side chain containing a unit derived from an N-alkyl-N-vinylalkylamide on a backbone of a polymer substrate, wherein triiodide ion is carried on said organic polymer material.